

Beverly Hills Cop IV – Watkins Script

Character Reviews:

Serge:

Oh my gosh. Bill has created such an orgasmic scenery to this film. To imagine Axwell, Billy and me back together again is truly unbelievable.

Yes, we are getting older, but I think with new parts for new actors like Ryan Gosling (he's so cute I'd like to put him in a popsicle), this could be a magical moment for us all.

Billy:

What Serge said is right. I have a good feeling about this one. Bill's script is funny, with a purpose. He proposes a new angle on policing and violence that must be explored in real life. Why not start in a little fiction?

Axel:

Let's get this going, Dammit!!! (haha, just kidding) What can I say, this may be a special thing, and I think Bill oughta' have a chance to make us laugh and think, you know?

I even got sober for this film, got married, have kids, advice for the young, but don't worry—the edge is still there, and to it I walk every day on the Force.
